

We are committed to protecting your privacy and your personal data in line with GDPR. We want you to fully benefit from the events and activities we organise and be clear about how and why we process your personal data and endeavour to keep it safe.

Linking London is hosted by Birkbeck, University of London so please refer to our privacy notices here for more information: <http://www.bbk.ac.uk/about-us/policies/privacy>

Why we are collecting and processing your personal data

We require and use your personal data to facilitate your registration and event experience. For more information please see our events privacy notice here:

<http://www.bbk.ac.uk/downloads/policies/privacy-events.pdf>

What personal data we are collecting for this event

We collect the following personal data for the purposes of this event: your email address, course, and place of study/work. If you share other people's data with us, for example if you register a colleague or student for the event, you will need to check that person consents to you providing that information to us.

Please note that any identifiable personal data we collect about you (as detailed above) will not be shared with our partners. This includes partners within the London NCOP partnership or external to this.

Anonymised information about this event (i.e. the number of registrants) will be aggregated and used for reporting and monitoring purposes only. This anonymised information will be shared with our partners within the London NCOP partnership and with our funder, the Office for Students.

How long will we keep your data?

Your personal data will be retained for the length of the Uni Connect (formerly NCOP) programme. You can request information about the personal data we hold about you at any time. You also have the right to withdraw consent for us to process and store your personal data at any time.

Changes to our privacy notice

We may revise this privacy notice from time to time. The most up to date version of this privacy policy can always be found at: www.linkinglondon.ac.uk
